Parish Life Together in the New Year

by The Reverend Andrew T.P. Merrow, Rector

Dear Friends,

January is traditionally the time of year when resolutions are made to change the trajectory of our lives. Studies repeatedly demonstrate that, like most diets we undertake, the needle moves very little. Could part of the reason for that lack of progress be that we tend to skip the admittedly painful step of wrestling with why we need a course correction? I have always maintained that criticism is not an inherently bad thing if two factors are in place: the first is that the criticism is offered from a position of knowledge, experience or wisdom, and the second is that the criticism comes from a place of love.

There is a lot to like about our parish and our life together. It is precisely because of that overall health that now is an appropriate time to reflect on where we might be coming up a little short or missing a ministry opportunity. The Vestry will be meeting on a day-long retreat at the end of the month with a trained consultant to take stock of where we are and, with my retirement on the horizon, how God would have us look toward the rest of 2025 and beyond. I am grateful that the Rev. Janet Rose Greene will continue her ministry as Associate and that the Rev. Victoria Heard has agreed to increase her position to half-time through June 30th of this year. In addition, the Vestry is currently interviewing two candidates for the position of Interim Rector to begin in early

May. We also have a search committee, ably chaired by Mike Whatley, looking for an additional ordained leader to join our team. We are getting closer to calling a Finance Manager so our staff is in solid shape. I am so grateful to Janet Tasker for returning to her position and filling in while this search is underway. I am also grateful that the Vestry has elected Gordon Thomas to join David Mayhood and Suzanne Stroup as Trustees of the parish, filling Peg Marsh's spot with her move to North Carolina. (Each parish in the Diocese of Virginia has three Trustees who are entrusted with holding the legal title to properties on behalf of the Bishop. For our parish they also form a majority of the Board of our St. Mary's Foundation.)

In other words, we are doing what we need to do. That said, however, where are areas of our common life that could be strengthened or revitalized?

I have a couple of thoughts. With the leadership of parishioner Rosanna Esposito, we are looking at how visitors and new members are welcomed and grafted into the life of our community. Maybe you have experiences or ideas that could help continue the building of beloved community for all of us. Maybe you would like to invest some sweat equity in turning it into reality. Likewise, the outpouring of love and prayer for Henry Hotra and his family after his injury (he is making steady progress, God be praised) reminds us that pastoral care is not only the responsibility of all of us in an emergency (not just the clergy) but an ongoing need in all our lives. Transportation, meals, prayers, companionship are things taken for granted, until they're no longer in place or readily available. How do we ensure that we stay connected and supported?

The Foundation for Belonging classes set for four Sundays beginning in January are not only meant for persons wanting to join the Episcopal Church through baptism or confirmation when Bishop Harris visits in February. Anyone who wants to step back and again ask how best to serve God and the world as a disciple of Jesus might find this small investment of time useful before plunging ahead with a new resolution to improve themselves.

No one ever gets it completely right. No parish ever gets it completely right. But if the journey together is marked by faithfulness and hard work, it is remarkable the fruit that the Holy Spirit yields in and through us.

May the Peace of the Lord always be with you.

Faithfully,

Father Andrew

THE NEW BLUE FRONTAL SET

for Advent was given by the church in thanksgiving for Father Merrow's 40 years of ministry at St. Mary's. Memorial funds were used to purchase the set.

Mitten Tree

Thank you St. Mary's for your robust donation of over 140 gloves and mittens to our Mitten Tree! With help from students Janie Malloy and Caroline Haynes and the Outreach Committee, we were able to donate pairs to Iglesia Santa Maria, Doorways for Women and Families, PathForward and Virginia Hospital Center. This donation drive ensures our neighbors stay warm this winter and we appreciate your generosity.

Advent Clean Up Day

Once again, St. Joseph's Ministry did not disappoint with their tenacity and dedication. They were 30 strong on Saturday morning, Dec. 7th to clean pews, rake leaves, and perform many other "cleans and fixes," drink coffee and enjoy some fellowship time! Together they accomplished a lot in just a few hours - readying the church facility for Advent and Christmas. THANK YOU to all who helped!!

Advent Mart

The Advent Mart was a wonderful time again this year with a packed house at both coffee hours on Dec. 8th. Vendors, most of whom are Outreach partners with St. Mary's, sold handcrafted items. Thank you to all who helped to make this a success. BIG Kudos to Kate Muth who led the way this year!

Advent Lessons & Carols

The Advent Lessons and Carols Choral Eucharist was performed on Sunday evening, December 8th at 5 pm and was followed by a reception in Paca Hall. This year Dr. Gregory Hooker, Music Minister coordinated with Marymount University Singers and their Director, Dr. Kimberly Hess to provide an enhanced musical offering that we hope becomes tradition. The reception was hosted by Gretel Lynch and the hospitality team.

A delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

Greening the Church

Like pieces of a puzzle, members of the Flower Guild take flowers and greenery and fit them together to make the church beautiful for Christmas Eve. It was a special feeling on that particular Monday afternoon, Dec. 23 with the anticipation of Christmas in the air! Thank you flower guild ministry leaders, Joanne Swain and Deb Leonard, and all the flower guild members for your tireless work and creative dedication and to all those who made generous flower donations in honor of loved ones this year.

Jumpstart Your Faith in 2025!

by Jackie Ly, Youth and Family Formation Minister

Anyone who works in education like I do or who has children in school knows that the academic year sometimes feels more like the start and end of a year than the church year that began on December 1st (Advent One), or the calendar year which begins January 1st. Whether you are a “New Year’s Resolutions” person or not, and whether this time of year feels like a season of renewal and goal setting for you or not, I have some suggestions that you might consider to jumpstart your faith in 2025.

1 ATTEND THIS YEAR’S MISSION TRIP

If you are in 8th grade or older, you are eligible and so very wanted to attend this year’s Sr. High mission trip to New Bern, NC, June 22-28, 2025! The week helping repair homes damaged by Hurricane Florence is an incredible way to witness to God’s people that they are not forgotten, and it does something for each one of us who has attended before, too. We are changed by our experience, and hope you’ll consider being a student participant OR an adult chaperone.

Deadline for student registrations is January 15, 2025. Forms can be found in the Merrow Fellowship Center or by emailing me (Jackie.ly@stmarysarlington.org).

2 JOIN CONFIRMATION CLASS

If you are in 8th-10th grade, consider joining our next class for Confirmation into the Episcopal Church.

You will find it’s a powerful and fulfilling process, beginning with a March 14-16, 2025 retreat at Shrine Mont, and followed by 2nd and 4th Tuesday evening classes through the school year. Adults are welcome as overnight chaperones and as mentors who support a student through this chapter of their faith journey. More information is coming! If you are in 11th grade or older, you might prefer to take advantage of our Foundations of Faith series offered in January and February to prepare for our Bishop’s visitation.

SUNDAY MORNING MINISTRY

If you find yourself struggling to get up on Sunday mornings and worship with St. Mary's family, I encourage you to consider joining a Sunday morning ministry like greeting, newcomers, coffee hour preparation, or volunteer with our Children's Chapel, all once a month opportunities that will jumpstart your day. Your gifts and talents can help us do ministry better!

NEW PRAYER PRACTICE

Explore a new prayer practice that feels right to you- maybe it's praying for your own needs or those of others while cooling down after a workout. You might prefer to set aside time before you get too tired to try a daily examen or review of your day, highlighting what went well, where you fell short, and where God was in your midst. Our Book of Common Prayer has many prayers to pray, as well as short liturgies.

BIBLE STUDY

I intend to do more personal bible study in 2025, for my own growth and so that I can share what I learn and wonder about with our young people. I am considering several devotional programs that help me go deeper into scripture, so feel free to ask me about how it's going, and let us hold each other accountable!

I offer you a prayer for New Year's, based on a prayer by Traci Smith in "Faithful Families for Advent and Christmas."

Gracious God, the year changes, but God's love stays the same. We wonder what might happen this year, in our world, in our community, and within our church. We wonder how we might grow more connected to you, God, and to one another. We wonder if we have it in us to start a new faith practice or jumpstart an old one this year. No matter what this new year brings, one thing will be true: God will be with us each and every day. We start the new year with joy and hope, wrapped in your love and strengthened by our faith. Amen.

Eve of Epiphany

Feast of Lights

Sunday, January 5, 5:00 pm

St. Mary's Youth and St. Mary's Choir will lead this joyful conclusion to the Christmas season. The drama of the Epiphany will be re-enacted through readings, carols and with the colorful costuming of the Three Kings in procession. A reception will follow.

Candlemas Choral Eucharist

Sunday, February 2, 5:00 pm

Candlemas is a Christian feast day that celebrates the presentation of Jesus in the Temple of Jerusalem. It is celebrated on February 2, 40 days after Christmas, and is also known as a festival of light with the blessing of candles. The Nunc Dimittis (the canticle sung at Choral Evensong), comes from when Simeon's wish was fulfilled when he met the Messiah in the temple. (Luke 2:25-38).

Hymn for Epiphany

Hymn No. 788

(Wonder, Love & Praise)

As newborn stars were stirred to song

This hymn was commissioned by the San Francisco Chapter of the American Guild of Organists in 1995. The text by Carl Daw contains examples about great moments of song throughout scripture. The winning tune in a competition was written by John Karl Hirten and named for his wife Alexandra. It is fitting for the season of Epiphany with its reference to stars and the third verse mention of the Word taking flesh, but could be sung at any time of year except Lent.

Hymn No. 788, Vs. 3

When God's redeeming Word took flesh to make salvation sure, unheeding hearts attuned to strife refused love's overture.
Yet to the end the song went on; a supper's parting hymn, a psalm intoned on dying lips when sun and hope grew dim.

THE LECTIONARY: YEAR C

by Rev. Janettarose+

Lectionaries intend to provide for the church over a given period (usually three years). Large units of Scripture are arranged according to the seasons of the Christian year and selected because they carry the central message of the Bible. Lectionaries are not designed to limit one's message or restrict the preacher's freedom. On the contrary, denominations that use a lectionary usually hear more Scripture in worship than those that do not. I can attest that preaching from the lectionary stretches me into areas of reflection and action more than if I had been left to preach only from my personal preferences.

Our lectionary is an ordered system for reading the Holy Scriptures at the Eucharist and the Daily Offices. The Book of Common Prayer (BCP) contains two lectionaries: The eucharistic lectionary (BCP, pgs. 887 – 931) and the Daily Office lectionary (BCP, pgs. 933-1001). The Prayer Book lectionary is based on the lectionary developed in the Roman Catholic Church following Vatican II.

The BCP lectionary uses a three-year cycle called Years A, B, and C. We are currently in Year C, which began on the First Sunday of Advent. The Daily Office lectionary follows a two-year cycle. We are currently in Year 1, which also started on the First Sunday of Advent (i.e., preceding the odd-numbered year). In the eucharistic lectionary, the Gospel According to Matthew is read in Year A, Mark in Year B, and Luke in Year C. The Gospel According to John is used during Lent and Easter and on some Sundays in Year B since Mark is shorter than the other.

Staff Christmas Luncheon

The Art of Blessing

by The Rev. Canon Victoria Heard

Yesterday I went to visit someone in the hospital. As I walked down the hall, I came from behind upon a nurse with beautiful braided grey hair that tumbled down her back like a waterfall. I told her it was beautiful. She was startled, and smiled, and ever so slightly straightened her shoulders. I was intentional. I meant to give her a blessing.

I grew up in a secular house where praise was relatively rare and the conveyed concept of duty was strong. One did well because it was one's duty to do well. Words of praise were rare. Reading C.S. Lewis, I became a Christian as a child - but still lived by the rules of my dutybound family. When I experienced a call to the priesthood, I knew that priests blessed, but I had no idea what that meant. I learned little more in seminary. Of course, I learned the "ABCs" of ordained priests: that they could absolve and bless and consecrate; but I do not recall a single explanation of what a priest was doing by blessing, much less what lay persons were doing beyond expressing gratitude at dinner. I did note that in the South, "Bless his heart," meant a number of things.

I believed what the Church believed, but understood nothing of what I was doing when I, newly ordained, was first asked to 'bless the people'. What could I as a mortal, priest though I was, add to God's blessing of God's creation? I suspected, 'Nothing.'

It was not until some years later that I began to understand that the act of blessing changes things, rather like the actions of Adam of naming creatures in Creation. God had created the animals and blessed them, but in a subordinate action of co-creation, Adam names the creatures - identifying them.

God made the world good, but then God invites human-kind to name what is already made and blessed. When priests and bishops bless, we rearm and name the goodness or beauty or grace of someone or something in creation. It is a benediction, literally from the Latin: we speak out the good. However, non-ordained Christians as part of the priestly people of God do the same thing when they ask God's blessing on their dinner or give their blessing to their children or thank someone who has done them a kindness by saying "Bless you."

Intentionally practicing blessing as a spiritual habit changes one's perception of the world. I have learned that if I complement someone on a job well done, or admire the style of their hair - I bring a blessing to the action, or to a person, or name the quiet courtesy I saw offered to another. I find myself more grateful to God that goodness and beauty and grace are still abroad to be seen and named. I see the Holy Spirit breathing on all sorts of human activity. I become more aware that I am part of the Body of

"... I am charged to see, name, and bless goodness or grace or courage when I meet it."

Christ, and as such, I am charged to see, name, and bless goodness or grace or courage when I meet it - as Elizabeth did, when she blessed Mary (Luke 1:42), or Jesus did when he blessed Peter for discerning the truth (Matthew 16:17).

As the body of Christ, Christians are called to be the priestly people, to name and bless all the goodness, truth, courage, kindness and beauty that they see in the world. Our naming and blessing changes things.

Think of a time when someone named something you did or were. It made you more...yourself, a little happier, or surprised, or glad to be noticed. Priest or people, when we bless or praise, we name and arm the beauty or kindness or justice or truth to a world and people hungry for all those things.

Canon Victoria Heard is part-time Priest Associate at St. Mary's. She attended VTS and was ordained in 1983. She recently retired to Virginia after serving the past 20 years in the Diocese of Dallas.

A VESTRY MISSIVE

by Colleen Mason, Sr. Warden

As we enter the season of Epiphany, the Vestry is looking into the year ahead. We have an all day retreat planned for Saturday January 25th at Virginia Theological Seminary. Our retreat leader is Rev. Jennifer McKenzie from Church Re-Imagined. (churchreimagined.net). The purpose of the retreat is to gain a better understanding of Saint Mary's current identity, culture, needs, and strengths in the face of Father Merrow's retirement. This information will be valuable as we hire an interim rector and continue transition work as a parish.

During the coming months Vestry plans to focus on small group ministries as a way to continue strengthening relationships within the parish. We plan to work with clergy and staff to engage new parishioners and bring everyone into the fold of the parish through formation, ministry work, and caring for one another. This work is critical for us at this time as we continue to greet newcomers each week and grow as a community.

In February, Vestry will kick off an interest meeting to begin planning for the parish's 100th Anniversary in 2026. We will be looking to parishioners from all the ministries to be included in the planning. Please consider how you would like to be part of commemorating Saint Mary's.

Vestry continues to plan for opportunities for the parish to celebrate Father Merrow's serving as rector for the past four decades. On March 5, Ash Wednesday, Father Merrow celebrates his 40th Anniversary serving as rector at Saint Mary's. We plan to celebrate on Shrove Tuesday with a festive pancake supper. On Friday May 2, we will celebrate Father Merrow's retirement with a lively gathering of old and new parishioners at the Hendry House in Arlington (located at 2411 N. 24th St., Arlington, VA 22207.)

We look forward to continuing serving Saint Mary's during this exciting time of transition. We have hope and faith in what lies ahead for Saint Mary's because each of you continue to inspire us in our shared love for God and our church community.

Colleen Mason is in her third year serving St. Mary's as Senior Warden and has been a devoted member with her family since 2000. She enjoys paddle boarding, cooking, entertaining friends and family and is a regular worshipper at the outdoor Wilderness Service.

Friends, we are on our way to fulfilling our pledge to donate 100 pounds of pull tabs to the Ronald McDonald House. On Thursday, December 19, Derek Greten-Harrison and I dropped off our donation to the Falls Church Ronald McDonald House. We were warmly greeted by staff and families who will benefit from your generosity and sacrifice. Our donation of 16.2 pounds (20,525 tabs) of pull tabs was the largest single donation the Falls Church RMH had ever received. It will go towards helping them expand their housing capacity for sick children and their families.

God bless you!

"Let my prayer be set forth in your sight as incense, the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice." (Ps 141.2)

What are vespers? Vespers are the early evening office of prayer in the church. The term "vespers" is from the Latin word for "evening." Lucernarium (lamp or lamp-lighting time) was an early name for vespers. The practice of Evening prayer dates from the third century. It is mentioned by Tertullian and in the Apostolic Tradition of Hippolytus. During the fourth to sixth centuries, evening service took the form of vespers. Vespers has also been called the evening sacrifice of prayer.

Below is the Mission of the Spiritual Resilience Working Group (SRWG) of the Diocesan Creation Care Committee (CCC). They welcomes your feedback at creationcare@episcopalvirginia.org.

Many people feel overwhelmed by the enormity of our environmental challenges. This is a place where the Church is called to be present. Worship and prayer are pathways for celebrating God's creation. They are also vehicles for lament, confession, supplication, healing and hope. This working group is dedicated to developing ministry responses to this experience and engaging Episcopalians in a conversation around it.

The Spiritual Resilience Working Group seeks to:

1. Offer opportunities to seminarians, clergy, and lay people to learn about creation care and climate change; provide support as they initiate discussion in their parishes.
2. Encourage each parish to provide opportunities for celebration of God's gift of creation.
3. Encourage each parish to provide ways for parishioners to recognize emotions in the face of climate crisis, to offer channels for lament and expression of loss and grief.
4. Encourage each parish to evaluate its level of preparedness for a climate event and to establish a Resilience/Rapid Response Ministry.
